

BETH DEWITT, BA, MA

Partner, National Leader, Data Protection and Privacy | Risk Advisory

Member, Board of Directors, Deloitte Canada and Chile

Deloitte LLP, Toronto, Canada

Beth is a Partner in Cyber Risk Advisory and Board Director at Deloitte Canada and leads the Data Protection and Privacy business offering nationally. Beth has over 15 years' experience designing privacy and data protection strategies and programs, driving alignment between business strategy and risk management. Beth has trained privacy officers, run executive and board level briefings, advised on privacy/data protection modernization efforts, data risk strategies, and designed strategies to support digital transformations. Recently, Beth oversaw the build of an integrated risk framework, bringing the areas of data, privacy, security and tech risk together. In her career, she has advised clients on statutory legal obligations, the impact on data sharing and governance, data analytics, and the adoption of emerging technologies, such a cloud and AI on individual privacy.

Across several different industry sectors, Beth has also managed privacy and data protection program implementations, focusing on alignment to cross-jurisdictional laws (e.g., PIPEDA, GDPR, and provincial laws). She has presented at numerous conferences on preparing for the fast-changing regulatory landscape and spoken on the topics of privacy program management, privacy audits, and privacy risk and maturity assessments.

In addition to the above, Beth leads our Global and Canadian Women in Cyber Initiative.
