We currently have a great deal of activity underway regarding AML but have continued to run into challenges with finding a solution to get funds transferred into our facilities from players accounts offshore. Rob Kroeker had started to do some work on this while at BCLC and I wondered if there would be the possibility of gaining a day or two a week from Rob for the next month to assist us with bringing this important project to conclusion. I actually think having a third party process in place can add value to the effort because the result will likely be a compromise for the Service Providers and Rob developed a great deal of respect with them and could be very helpful in the sell. I spoke to him briefly last week and he is keen to participate and feels he can juggle the time lines. I am obviously willing to pay him for his time. Let me know if this is acceptable to you and we will start the process. Many thanks, MG
